

THE SOUL OF ALL SCENERY: A HISTORY OF THE SKY IN ART

Table of Contents

Preface

Chapter 1. Before the Sky: The Epic Vacuum

1.1 Prehistoric Art

1.2 Ancient Art

1.3 Appraisal of Prehistoric and Ancient Sky Painting

Chapter 2. The Sky Appears

2.1 Sky Color and Atmospheric Perspective

2.2 Roman and Hellenistic Painting

Chapter 3. The Eternal Sky: The Meaning Beyond

3.1 Early Christian Art and the Byzantine Demise

3.2 The Divine Light of Natural Halos

Chapter 4. The Ebb and Flow of Nature's Wind: Asian Sky Painting

4.1 The Birth and Youth of Chinese Sky Painting

4.2 The Zenith of Chinese Sky Painting

4.3 Looking Backward

4.4 Sky Painting Reaches Persia

Chapter 5. Cloud Forms and a Crystalline Sky: Back to Earth

5.1 Prelude to Rebirth: Earthly Shocks

5.2 The Ideal Forms of Clouds

5.3 The Celestial Curtain Rises North of the Alps

5.4 The Aerial Renaissance in Italy

Chapter 6. The Substance of Air: Hidden Meanings and Power

6.1 Storm and Smoke

6.2 Atmospheric Optical Phenomena: Beauty and Disturbance

6.3 Twilight and the Little Ice Age

Chapter 7. A Measured World of Light and Motion

7.1 The Enlightened Dutch Overview

7.2 Pastoral Restraint and Beauty

7.3 Misty Undercurrents

Chapter 8. The Sky in Captivity

8.1 Pleasures and Monsters of the Misty Womb

8.2 From Efficiency to Exploration

Chapter 9. The Crowning of Nature

9.1 Infinite, Romantic Skies

9.2 Realism: The Camera, A New Eye

9.3 America's Banner in the Sky

9.4 Skies of Other Lands

Chapter 10. Beyond Nature

10.1 Impressionism: Light in the Powder Puff Skies of Progress

10.2 Nature's Roadmap to the Beyond

Chapter 11. The Irrepressible Sky

11.1 The Slender Thread of Reality

11.2 Casting off the Yoke of Europe

11.3 Wide Open Skies of the Wild West

11.4 Conclusion: New Skies to Conquer

References